Payments for any course received prior to 1 October will be charged at the pre GST increase cost. Payments must be received at 1 week prior to course commencement, see refund policy overleaf.

Time: 9.00am to 4.30pm

Venue: South Seas Film & Television School, Unit 3/75 Ellice Rd, Glenfield, Auckland

This course is designed to introduce students to (a) The working practices of the television / video industries, (b) The scope, content and training practices of the 1 year full time Film & Television Production Diploma course, (c) The practical use of the school's video equipment and facilities.

Each course consists of 5 days practical exercises during which students receive intensive hands-on experience in using professional EFP cameras with onboard video recorders, audio recording equipment, video editing suites and multi-camera television studio production facilities.

Other relevant aspects such as on-camera presentation, interviewing and acting techniques, as well as basic directing and production skills are also covered. Students will be involved in the production of actual short programme items on a team work basis as well as individually completing a short video item, which is designed to let them express their own creativity.

Upon completion of the course students will receive a certificate confirming their course participation and the production skills covered.

During the course all students are carefully assessed in order to evaluate their potential for further study and work in the film and television industries. Students who successfully complete the Introductory Course will be given favorable consideration for the 1 year full time Film & Television Production Diploma Course. However, this consideration does not in any way automatically guarantee a position.
